

Visalat Day Celebration, 5th February 2013

Beloved Sufi Brothers and Sufi Sisters,

On this special day, pilgrims from all over the world offer their devotion and gratitude to the memory of Hazrat Inayat Khan, whose historical proclamation known as the "Unity of Spiritual Ideals" could be seen as a diamond with so many colors, representing the various aspects of the call, which reaches beyond distinctions, differences, and dogmatic submitting.

So many years have passed, but the luminous presence of the bringer of the Message in our time appears as bright as ever before, shining as a stream of inspiration, silently helping us to discover that the spirit of the Message is gradually shaping human thinking in the direction of freedom of illusions.

While venturing along the inner path in attunement to the great Ideals of Love, Harmony and Beauty, we are constantly inspired each time that we offer ourselves to the spiritual guidance of the Message, which is ever present.

When meeting in thought on this special day, each one could be seen as a rose petal, and when united, the petals form together the image of a rose offered in devotion and gratitude. The fragrance of the rose spreads onwards the response of our feeling hearts.

On behalf of all Sufi Brothers and Sufi Sisters,

Hidayat Inayat-Khan
